Overview of Coaching

For more than a decade, Jayme Check has helped organizations develop world-class leaders through his results-based coaching and innovative leadership development programs. Quantum Global Partners, founded by Mr. Check in 2001, provides measurable leadership development programs that have lasting impact on individual participants and their teams. Jayme is also a co-founder of PrimeGenesis, a New York-based firm providing executive onboarding and transition acceleration services to senior executives.

Background and Experience

Jayme knows what it is like to run a business, because he has, multiple times. He brings deep, hands-on operational, organizational, and strategic experiences to the table. After starting his career on Wall Street at J.P. Morgan, and prior to launching PrimeGenesis and Quantum Global Partners, Jayme served as vice president of Guidance Solutions, an internet technology company. There, he was instrumental in building one of southern California's 50 fastest growing companies (as recognized by Deloitte & Touche). During his tenure, he led the business development and client services departments as the company's revenue more than tripled. In order to deliver superior services to clients, he integrated management personnel from multiple disciplines, including investment banking, business development, legal, accounting and technology. He also structured several innovative equity-based venture transactions for a variety of clients in multiple industries.

Jayme played a pivotal role in launching several businesses prior to joining Guidance, including developing the nation's first medical franchise for NHI Medical Group. At Cape Enterprise, a company he co-founded and later sold, he handled the development, marketing and launch of innovative consumer products in both the domestic and international marketplace. Jayme has articles published on Bloomberg, Fox Business, Talent and Baseline Magazines, among others.
